

Revel in the magic of her storybook wedding...

It was like stepping into a fairytale. The glistening, gilded décor adorning every inch of the majestic hall. The perfume of the flowers flourishing in each imaginable corner and nook. The magic that seemed to mingle with the very air she swallowed every time she took a trembling breath. And of course her dress! She'd been so careful to keep its secrets hidden until this moment. Earlier when she couldn't help but visit her prince one last time before the ceremony, she kept its cape securely cinched. And she certainly didn't tell a soul about its final iteration—the contemporary high-low look she would reveal later at the reception.

As she approached the aisle, a silence—save for a few small gasps of astonishment—overcame the loved ones gathered there, and all eyes fell upon her ravishing form. The corners of her lips rose, creating a slight nervous smile as she paused to savor the moment's every magical nuance. Then she closed her eyes, drew in a final breath, and proceeded ahead, blissfully venturing into her happily ever after.

A vision of beauty realized with masterful detail

Meticulously crafted from fine bisque porcelain by artist Cindy McClure, this bride doll masterpiece stands at an impressive 21" tall and is brought to life with delicate hand painting. The expression on her face is unmistakable—pure enchantment. Her blue eyes are wide and starry, transfixed by the sight of her approaching groom; her lips drawn into a gentle smile. And of course her hair—exquisite with its breathtaking sheen—is gorgeously styled for the occasion, swept back and cinched with a golden ribbon.

Superb handcraftsmanship - three distinct looks

The bride's ensemble is the pinnacle of beauty, shimmering with over seventy sequins, gemstones, and pearl beads all painstakingly applied by hand. What's more, the ensemble can be customized into three distinct looks. The outermost layer is a floor-length chiffon cape with an oversized hood, embellished with lace at the hem. Unclasp and remove this cape to reveal her ravishing wedding gown. A stunning ivory satin brocade, it is accented with a golden satin draping around the waist with a matching collar and gloves. Lastly, for her final look, remove the bottom half of her gown to showcase an elegant high-low dress with a golden satin lining. As a perfect finishing touch, white shoes, dazzling earrings, a wedding band, and a lavish jewel-accented bouquet complete her beauteous appearance.
